The War, and After.

A FORECAST OF THE NATION'S NEW ERA.

The following paragraphs are from the eloquent address delivered by General Sherman at St. Louis before the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, portions of which we have already published:

But little over six years ago, in the memorable year 1861, we were all startled by the gathering clouds which portended civil war, but so accustomed had our people become (at the North especially) to the warlike language of the press, that few realized the real danger. Our people could not believe that any part of them had cause to rebel against a Government so mild and paternal in its nature; but all at once the storm cloud burst over Fort Sumter in Charleston harbor, and then our Northern masses rose in majestic earnestness, determined to rescue the country from the threatened danger, cost what it might. Regiment after regiment came pouring into existence, strong in muscle, determined in purpose, but ignorant as children of all the stern requirements of war.

Casting our eyes to the South, we beheld about one-third of our people, occupying nearly one-half our territory, arrayed in open, defiant rebellion to the national authority, and who had, after long-seeming preparation, seized upon the national mints, custom-houses, navy-yards, arsenals and forts; had deliberately organized a separate government, and set up a claim to be recognized as an independent power among the nations of the earth. Before their purpose had been divined or could be prevented, they had organized their people into a strong military order, and had built a continuous line of forts and camps from the Potomac to the plains of the West, barring our passage down the Mississippi, and to the South. Then in defiance they boldly challenged our advance.

Whilst our parlor knights—loud in words but not in deeds—were crying aloud, "On to Richmond!" "Break the backbone of the rebellion!" "Crush the monster in the bud!" and other harmless general expressions, of more sound than fury, quietly, without noise or confusion, without boasting or bluster, an army, mostly of western men, had assembled at Cairo and Paducah under the leadership of him whom we still delight to call our chief, embarked upon their frail steamboats, and convoyed by the gallant navy under Commodore Foote, turned their course up the Tennessee river and assumed the proud title of the "Army of the Tennessee."

Hardly was the fact known before the whole country was electrified by the glad tidings that Henry and Donelson had fallen, that the boasted rebel line was broken in twain, and that its ends and fragments had been loosened and were falling back in confusion to a safe place.

Then on to Shiloh, where we fought the rebels one of those hard and bloody battles worthy to be called an epoch in the war itself; and with the aid of our comrade Army of the Cumberland, we drove them back, and beyond their second chosen line at Corinth. Here these two armies, destined to play so important a part in the future war, parted for a time—the one eastward and the other westward—looking to that majestic artery of our country, the Mississippi river.

The navy, ever bold and gallant, aiding us and following up quickly all successes, had pushed down the Mississippi, and like the swoop of an eagle had pounced upon and crushed at a single blow the rebel fleet at Memphis. Then on to Vicksburg; but her Gibraltar-like walls, crowned by battery on battery, barred their passage and defied assault. Again the Army of the Tennessee was put in motion, and, after a whole year of toil and battle, varied in adventure that would fill a volume, that renowned fortress succumbed at last to the army and navy, led by two heroes that have no superiors in any country, and both of whom still live to reap the rewards of their labors—Grant and Porter. The Fourth of July of 1863 thus became doubly glorious in our country's calendar.

But the end was not yet. Our comrade army of the Cumberland, far away in the mountains of East Tennessee, called for help and we had to go. Through forests, over rivers, through the mud, and over rocks, we paused not till Lookout Mountain, with its rebel batteries, frowned down upon us, and upon our beleaguered comrades in Chattanooga. You [illegible], I was summoned ahead of you, to meet General Grant in Chattanooga, and I recall my feelings as standing with him on the parapet of Fort Wood, he pointed out to me the circling rebel camp, with their pickets walking their posts in clear daylight close up to our lines. I then realized that our troops were closely besieged, and that our General, unaccustomed to such close quarters, only awaited your arrival to cut the gordian knot, and set his army free.

So impatient was he, that, after receiving his orders, I hastened back to meet you at Bridgeport, pulling an oar myself one bright moonlight night, down those thirty miles of river, and, without allowing you a moment's rest. I hurried you forward. You know the sequel, how we massed behind those hills, and laid that pontoon bridge below Chattanooga at night and hastily marched to the top of Mission Ridge. The prolongation of Bragg's line of investment—clearly there was not room there for us both, and one of us had to quit—we had not the remotest intention of going, and Bragg fell into the very trap which our General had set for him. He drew from his center as against us, to such an extent, that Thomas, with the army of the Cumberland, burst out of his intrenchments, and swept the rebel host off Mission Ridge, and paused not till the broken fragments had escaped beyond Ringgold Gap, leaving us masters of the Tennessee Valley.

I would like thus to go on and trace the career of this our glorious army through those eventful times of 1864 and 1865, from the first dash through Snake Creek Gap, to Resaca, to Kingston, to New Hope, Dallas and Kenesaw, to the Chattahoochee, around by Roswell to Decatur, to Atlanta, where our beloved McPherson fell; to Savannah, to Salkehatchie and Columbia, to Fayetteville and Goldsboro, to Raleigh and Durham Station, and last to the capital of our country—near two thousand miles of continuous marching. The time will not permit me to do justice to so interesting a subject. But I will here again, on this public occasion, renew my full and willing testimony to the noble spirit that always animated this army. Its career was ever onward—never checked—always victorious; so rapid in motion—so eager to strike; it deserved its name of the "Whip-lash," swung from one flank to the other, as danger called, night or day, sunshine or storm. I sometimes feared you thought your old commander was hard and unfeeling; but now that it is all over, now that the fatigue is all forgotten, I have no fear that one of you would willingly spare a single leaf from the chapter of the past.

History, with its busy fingers, is already gathering all these events and loading our shelves with its volumes; but to us, the living actors and witnesses, how feeble seem the pictures they have drawn! Who but a living witness can imagine those scenes on Shiloh field, when our wounded men mingled with rebels charred and blackened by the burning tents and grass, were crawling about, begging for some one to end their misery? Who can describe the plunging shot, shattering the strong oak as with a thunderbolt, and beating down horse and rider to the ground? Who but one who has felt them can describe the sizzing Minie ball, which does its work so neatly and so well? Who can describe that last look of the stricken soldier as he appeals for a help that man can not give? Or who the dread scenes at the surgeon's table, or at the burial trench?

What artist will attempt that night scene when the gunboats and transports ran the batteries of Vicksburg?—that long, black line of iron-clads, followed by the frail transports, in darkness and silence, hardly a ripple or a breath heard—when, as by the lightning's flash, the whole sky was lit up by the bonfires and burning buildings on shore illuminating city and fleet, and making every object a target for those terrible batteries.

Who will attempt to paint that grand scene of the battle at Chattanooga, with ten miles of continuous fire, plainly visible from our hill just before the setting sun?

Or who but the poet would venture to express that intense feeling of joy which pervaded all minds when, at our camp of Lovejoy, we heard in the distance the faint reverberations of the exploding magazines at Atlanta, that told us the rebels were evacuating the city, and that at last we had reached the goal assigned us in that grand drama of war which extended over a whole continent?

I have always wished that some artist like Bierstadt or Kauffman could have stood by my side on Kenesaw that beautiful October morning, and fixed on canvass that beautiful picture of the vast forest at our feet, with its bright autumnal foliage and the long lines of soldiers pointing towards Dallas, while in the far off distance was Altoona, begirt with the white smoke of the rebel assault, and the occasional glimpse of the little signal flag through an embrasure, which told me, through the skillful officer by my side, that Corse was there and consequently that the place was safe.

Or better still, that a Beard or a Healy could have caught that gorgeous picture as we rode out of Atlanta that beautiful morning in November, and turned to look at Atlanta smouldering in its ruins, whilst long lines of soldiers with their white topped wagons were starting southward, they knew not whither, and the whole air resounded with that favorite anthem of "John Brown's soul goes marching on," taken up from the band by the marching columns as by a common instinct.

Or who will attempt the [illegible] when Hazen's old division, after long weeks and months of marching down to the sea, walked with colors flying, and dressed by brigades on the center, right into Fort McAllister, and the loud shouts of his men reached us over those rice fields, and even carried back to our main camps, telling them that our fleet was gained and that Savannah's fate was sealed?

Or who but one who was present can feel the magic effects of that steam whistle when that little tug Davidson came up Cape Fear river to us at Fayetteville, and the wild yells of our men told us that every man realized that it was a message from home?

Who does not remember the heartfelt joy when, at Smithfield, we heard the glad tidings that Richmond had fallen; that Lee was in full retreat followed so soon by the news of his surrender?

But in our varied experience we had, at times, to drink of the bitter cup of death and loss.

Do you suppose that any one can describe to me the bitter anguish of that moment when McPherson, who had just left me in joyous health, was brought back and laid dead at my feet; or that terrible yell when the army of the Tennessee learned that their noble commander, whom they loved so well, would never again be seen in life, and to them was consigned the [illegible] of revenge?

And last of all, when at Raleigh the sad tidings came and hung over us all our days like a pall, that Mr. Lincoln, our beloved President, had been assassinated by the coward villain Booth. Even now I tremble when I think what might have befallen the people of Raleigh had not our men been long schooled in the terrible lessons of a bloody war. Oh! how we had all looked forward to that day when he should come forth to meet us, with his tall form and beaming eye, to [illegible] us back again to our homes, after our long and devious wanderings. But it was not. It was for him, and another did it for him, in his stead, while the whole nation stood by, in [illegible] with shouts of joy, "Well done, good and faithful soldiers!" And now I, your old commander, after a lapse of more than two years, echo the same sentiment and tell you: You have your reward, not in money or precious jewels, not in land and houses, but in the consciousness of a noble duty well done, and in the possession of that pride of memories that will become more and more [illegible] as time rolls on. The day will come when not a man in this land of ours but would share with you his wealth, could he say, like you, that he, too, was of the Army of the Tennessee [illegible] could tell his children that he had heard the first [illegible] shot at Fort Henry, and the last boom of the cannon at Raleigh.

I could thus go on, my friends, [illegible] and recall from the past endless views of [illegible] interest to us all, but we live in a busy world that will not pause nor stop for us. The seasons follow each other in quick succession, the sun pursues his endless course, and we who still survive must plod on to our appointed time, and struggle with the present and grapple with the future, [illegible] before at considerable personal risk I feel [illegible] to deal with [illegible].

I have often been asked by my [illegible] when troubled by the reports of the disturbed condition of things at the South, whether after all our labors had not been in vain? Whether we might not again be called on to fight the battles of 1863 and 1864? Or whether the rebels, [illegible] in battle, might not in the hurly-burly of these and politics, regain their "lost cause" and lost pride?

On these points I feel no [illegible], but whether I can convey to your minds the [illegible] conviction I will not say. History rarely goes backward, and events in the past are as [illegible] real as the granite rock on which we stand. Surely no men ever had a more glorious [illegible] than we. And never, in my judgment, did war so completely fulfill its natural office. When we laid down our arms and each individual [illegible] to his [illegible] not an armed [illegible] national authority, and [illegible] and tranquility have not returned, we must look for the cause in the nature of things, or in the civil administration of our [illegible]. The former lays within my province, but the latter is not a fair topic of discussion for the soldier, who is sworn to obey the laws of the country, duly enacted, and the orders of his superiors.

And now, my friends, I will say that since the war closed, nothing has given me more satisfaction than to see the spirit you have all manifested since you cast [illegible] garb.

I [illegible] a little circumstance in Memphis in the summer of 1863. We were laying in camp, drilling and preparing for the coming winter, when I was visited by a gentleman of high [illegible], Captain then, now Admiral [illegible], of the Russian navy, who [illegible] the many drills and reviews, always complimenting our men on their soldierly appearance. On one day we rode into the camp of [illegible] Battery, and we timed them from the call of assembly till the battery was harnessed up and out in the field, ready for action. He was much pleased at the promptness. I explained that our men were not professional soldiers, but had been [illegible], clerks and laborers only a few months before. He [illegible] to admit that was possible, but he said: "What will you do with these men when the war is over?" I answered: They will all quietly and joyfully return to their homes. He shook his head, and did not believe me. I have no doubt that he has since given us, as a people, full credit for this result—to him and to all Europe an enigmatical in its character. Yes, our men have returned to their homes in peace and [illegible] And go where I may, I [illegible] them more or less [illegible] at their varied callings. Instead of the great art of destruction, they are now pursuing that better art of construction. Dodge guiding the Pacific Railroad (that at [illegible] done more than any of the [illegible] and resources of our people) across the Rocky Mountains, Casement laying his two miles of rails per day, Wright seeking out the way for the Southern Pacific Road, Sprague at the North, building Westward, Corse constructing harbors on the great lakes, Blair and Warner planting cotton at the South, Wilson delving out the [illegible] and planning to make the Illinois river a majestic canal fed by the great lakes of the North, and turn which way we may, we find our comrades busy, their swords turned into pruning hooks, each planting his own vine and fig tree, and no man afraid.

Go on then, I say, and encourage honest industry everywhere. Form and express your honest opinions like freemen. Discourage that system of personal abuse and detraction which has grown too much into a habit, and is a stain upon the national character. Frown upon violence, come from what quarter it may. Have unbounded faith in our country and its flag, and you will win for the Army of the Tennessee a fame in peace equal to that which you fairly won for it in war; and He who holds the fate of nations in the palm of His hand will see that your labors are not in vain, and that the glory of your country, for which you battled in war and labored in peace, shall not be tarnished by an insidious foe.

The Courant was the title of the first daily newspaper printed in the English language, the first number of which appeared in London, the 11th of March, 1702. It was a little half sheet, printed on one side only, and consisting of one page of two columns. It continued until 1725 maintaining the foremost place among the many imitations which speedily sprang into existence.

Printing with movable types was known in India at least 1,000 years ago, according to discoveries recently made by English savans.

STATE ITEMS.

The Union voters of J[illegible] precinct, Polk county, met and organized a club last week. Mr. Lawson, Mr. Sullivan and Capt. [illegible] delivered addresses. There is now a Union club in every precinct of Polk county.

The Salem Annual is the name of a neat, pretty little sheet which was issued at the close of the year. It is published by the M. E. Episcopal Sunday School; and besides a sketch of the church and the work of the school, it contains a variety of matter of an appropriate character for such a publication. The copy sent us [illegible] was very tardy in coming. We hope [illegible] to be remembered more promptly.

Charles Dickens does not use any accessories in his readings; but he has a [illegible] arrangement of lights, and travels with his own gas fittings. He has his own place of the platform on which he [illegible] Kingdom, a gas-fitter, always [illegible] in his employ for the purpose of fixing these lights.

Work for the Democratic Press.

A prospectus for a Democratic campaign paper is issued at Salem. The paper will appear in a few days, and promises to employ "the best editorial talent in the State." It might easily surpass any talent which is at present employed on the newspapers of its own party in Oregon; and as it will be impossible for it to fall below the "talent" which they exhibit, perhaps it may be charitably hoped that the new paper will show some improvement as compared with the present style of Democratic journalism.

It is due to truth to remark that the prospectus evinces the usual Democratic ignorance of the history of political parties in this country and the measures which, at different periods, have characterized them. For instance, this campaign paper proposes to become an instrument in restoring the Government "within the sacred boundaries set up by Washington, and sustained by Jefferson, Jackson and their compeers." A more confused jumble of political ideas than is here manifested, it would be impossible to find. He who does not know, or knowing, refuses to admit, that Jefferson did not sustain the principles of Washington, is but poorly qualified for the office of a reliable political instructor. The boundaries of the Government were set up by Washington and the Federalists, under whom the Government was conducted for the first twelve years of its existence. The political revolution of 1799, headed by Jefferson, overthrew the system which Washington and his co-laborers had established; and the doctrine of [illegible] which finally culminated in the [illegible] rebellion and the attempt to destroy the Union, was introduced as the true interpretation of the respective powers of the General Government and the States. In 1832 one of the heads of this monster was cut off by Gen. Jackson, who, [illegible] a thorough Federalist; and his proclamation against nullification and secession in South Carolina was an emphatic repudiation of the Kentucky resolutions which were written by Jefferson and made by him and his political associates the platform [illegible] which they rose into power. Thus Washington and Jefferson were totally unlike in [illegible] views, and an equal dissimilarity [illegible] Jefferson and Jackson. As this Democratic campaign paper proposes to harmonize all these conflicting principles, it has before it a task of some magnitude, and it may be doubted [illegible] months of its contemplated existence will suffice for the complete performance of the work it is about to take in hand.

But apart from these particular questions in regard to State and Federal powers, there are other [illegible] held by the founders of the Democratic party, which the new journal may undertake to reconcile with the position held by its party at the present day. To instance one of these, we may mention the question of a protective tariff. The Democratic party is almost unanimously opposed to protection, and its journals in this State are generally hostile to the system. [illegible] that the people of Oregon who, [illegible] geographical situation and the nature of the productions of their State, have a great deal of interest in this question, will soon be enlightened by the Democratic press as to the method by which the views expressed by the Democratic fathers on this subject are to be harmonized with the present attitude of the party. In his first annual message Mr. Jefferson said:

"To cultivate peace and maintain commerce and navigation in all their lawful enterprises, to foster our fisheries as nurseries of navigation, and protect the manufactures adapted to our circumstances, [illegible] these, follow [illegible] are the landmarks by which we are to guide ourselves in all our proceedings. By continuing to make these the rule [illegible] we shall endeavor to our countrymen the true principles of the Constitution, and promote a union of sentiment and of action equally auspicious to their happiness and safety."

In his message of 1806, Mr. Jefferson adverted to the same subject, saying:

"Shall we suppress the impost, and give that advantage to foreign over domestic manufactures?"

And in his last annual message he remarked: "The situation into which we have thus [by foreign hostile policy] been forced, has compelled us to apply a portion of our industry and capital to internal manufactures and improvements. The extent of this conversion is daily increasing; and little doubt remains that the establishments formed and forming will, under the auspices of cheaper materials and subsistence, the freedom of labor from taxation with us, and of protecting duties and prohibitions, become permanent."

Does not all this read wonderfully like an argument in favor of the "bloated manufacturers" who are so often denounced by the Democratic press at the present day? [illegible] messages abound in like arguments and recommendations. The same is true of those of Mr. Monroe. The early Democratic Governors of the State of New York, also held similar views. We will not cite further from these early documents, as we have already given enough to set forth another feature of the "eternal and immutable principles" with which the public ear is so often and so vehemently assailed.

The New York World advises the Democrats to plant themselves on the ground of giving equal civil rights to negroes, and of leaving the control of suffrage wholly to the States. It praises the efforts of Democratic papers in Kentucky to obtain for the negroes the right to sit as juries, and hopes the Legislature of that State will take this step forward, in order to help the character of the Democratic party elsewhere, by demonstrating that negro suffrage is not necessary to the protection of negro rights.

In a leading article the Salem Record says: "Money is a fiction, and will be until a dollar in paper brings a dollar in gold." In the next column we find another editorial item in which it is remarked that "the trade of the country needs all the currency in use. As a consequence of abundant currency men do business nearer a cash basis." It would seem that the writer of the above, when considering a subject, looks on but one side at a time.

Secretary Stanton is in favor of Grant for President, and spoke warmly in his support at a recent public meeting at Pittsburg.

The cold weather has stopped nearly all business at Salem. The mills have all ceased to work. It seems to be somewhat colder there than here.

[PREPARED FOR THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JANUARY 11.

Political Intelligence.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The Ohio Democratic Convention yesterday nominated [illegible] for State officers, Thos. Hubbard heading the ticket for secretary of State. George H. Pendleton was indorsed for President. He came forward and made a brief speech, amidst the wildest enthusiasm.

The Indiana Convention also indorsed Pendleton, and nominated Hendricks for Governor, and [illegible] for Lieutenant Governor, and a full ticket for State officers. Both Conventions sustain Johnson's plan of reconstruction, though the resolutions are not very enthusiastic. The platforms of both conventions are similar. They favor the payment of the public debt in greenbacks, demand the abolition of national banks, and declare in favor of the protection of naturalized citizens, in all their rights at home and abroad.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9th.—The West Virginia Democratic Convention was held yesterday.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The Illinois State Central Democratic Committee met at Springfield, in the character of a mass meeting, and adopted resolutions very similar to those of Ohio and Indiana, though they expressed no preference for a Presidential candidate, and made no mention of Johnson or his policy. A State Convention was called to meet April 15th.

Tragedy in Tennessee.

MEMPHIS, Jan. 9.—A terrible affair occurred at Dyersburg, West Tennessee, on Tuesday. Sheriff Parkington attempted to arrest a man named Duncan, who fired and slightly wounded the Sheriff. Parkington instantly shot and killed Duncan, whose son coming up fired, killing young Parkington. The Sheriff then fired, killing young Duncan. The most intense excitement followed, as there are extensive relatives of the families. More trouble is apprehended.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—In the Senate the House bill to prevent frauds on the revenue from distilled spirits, passed with slight amendments.

On motion of Morton, the Senate took up the resolution instructing the State Conventions at the South to provide for existing State Governments. Morton urged such legislation in view of Hancock's course, and other recent occurrences. He spoke till the morning hour expired.

A bill to prevent the further contraction of currency, suspending the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury to cancel notes after the passage of this act, was taken up. Sherman, Morrill and Stewart spoke, and the Senate adjourned without taking a vote.

In the House, Eggleston offered a resolution inquiring into the manner of building a bridge over the Ohio river at Louisville, now being constructed, charging that the bridge will be a serious obstruction to the navigation of the river; referred.

After the introduction of several other bills and resolutions, the House proceeded to consider the joint resolution in regard to the request of the President to intercede with the Queen of England for the release of Father McMahon. After debate the resolution passed unanimously; also similar resolutions in reference to other American citizens held as Fenian prisoners.

Schenck offered a joint resolution providing for a commission to examine into various whisky matters, and report with recommendations. Schenck, Logan and several others spoke at considerable length, denouncing the frauds practiced on the revenue. The debate was protracted to a late hour, mainly consisting of denunciations and defense of the conduct of the President.

A R[illegible] Serving his Master.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Senator Doolittle is preparing a minority report in the Stanton case, sustaining the action of the President and putting the blame of the New Orleans riot on Stanton.

Washington News.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The Democratic banquet in Washington, in honor of the battle of New Orleans, was an enthusiastic affair. The President was heartily greeted upon entering. Letters were received from Pendleton, Pierce and others, giving their political views.

Stillwell was nominated as Minister to Venezuela, not to Austria.

At a conference of soldiers and sailors, it was decided to hold a National Convention at Chicago May 10th.

The Senate has rejected Edmund Cooper, nominated for Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Affairs in Georgia.

ATLANTA, Jan. 10.—Gen. Meade informs the Convention that in his opinion they are entitled to draw pay for the incidental expenses from the State Treasury, and he will endeavor to remove the existing obstacles to their being paid. It is said that Gov. Jenkins and the State Treasurer will both be removed.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—The steamer Golden City sails to-morrow.

It is stated that the eight-hour Co-operative Association of this city, have purchased a tract of land near Hunter's Point, where they intend to erect an extensive timber sawing and planing mill, to be carried on under the eight-hour co-operative system.

John Williams was arrested last night on a charge of an attempt to commit burglary, having been caught in the act of cutting a hole through the floor of the hotel, in order to reach the bar room.

The steamer China has been libelled for an alleged violation of the passenger law, in carrying too many steerage passengers on her last trip from Yokohama, and was seized by the United States Marshal to-day. This steamer is advertised to sail for Yokohama on Monday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—The Eisner inquest was resumed last night. The physician who made the post mortem examination, testified that the pistol with which Eisner was shot, must have been held at least fifteen inches, and from that to twenty inches from his head when fired, and that under these circumstances he must have used his thumb to pull the trigger. The inquest will be resumed this evening.

Jose Ortega, a sailor, sues Captain Bowden, of the steamer Continental, to recover $5,000 damages for punishment inflicted on board that ship.

The Golden City sailed to-day, with two hundred passengers and $1,312,950 in treasure. Among the passengers were Generals Bidwell and Jno. S. Ellis, Gov. Woods of Oregon, Allen McLane, Col. Ramsey and Judge Brockway.

A watchmaker (name withheld) has been arrested on a charge of grand larceny. He obtained from dealers, to whom he was well known, several gold watches to sell on commission. He pawned the watches, and gambled the money off.

Markets.

Gold opened in New York at 133, and closed at 137½. Flour choice, 13 34½; common to good $12@13 12½. Wheat held at $3 10@3 20. The Liverpool wheat market declined to 13s.

Legal tenders, 72½@73.

Flour—The shipment to New York by steamer, this morning, consisted of 8,211 barrels, valued at $25,692. There is a fair demand both for local trade and export. We quote City Mills, superfine, at $6 75@8 00.

Wheat—Sales of 300 sacks good milling at 2 67½.

Barley—Sales include 500 sacks choice feed at $1 80; and 700 sacks prime brewing at $1 87½.

California Legislature.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—In the Senate yesterday the new Senator from Santa Clara county, McClay, took the oath and his seat.

A petition was received from the Board of Managers of the Sacramento Protestant Orphan Asylum, praying for a donation of $5,000 from the State.

The Senate confirmed the nominations of R. W. Heath and S. P. Wells as Port Wardens of San Francisco.

The nomination of Joseph Austin, on motion of Ewer, was postponed till the 4th of March by a vote of 16 to 15.

Hagar introduced a bill for the relief of the proprietors of the Democratic Press and Monitor, for damages sustained in the riot of April, 1865, which went to the Judiciary Committee.

Pose introduced resolutions against negro and Chinese suffrage in this State, and against the right of Congress to regulate the franchise in ex-States. Referred to the Judiciary Committee by a vote of 19 to 15, reference to the Committee on Federal Relations being defeated by the casting vote of the President.

In the Assembly a petition was read from citizens of Santa Cruz county, praying for annexation of part of their county to San Mateo.

The Judiciary Committee reported back the bill to repeal an act against alien enemies practicing in courts, and recommending that the Senate bill be substituted.

Kelly, from Committee on Agriculture, reported in favor of the law, to explain the act of April, 1866, for the encouragement of silk culture, which act is susceptible of double interpretation, and without explaining the act is liable to cost the State many thousands of dollars, without in the least aiding the object for which it passed. An explaining bill was read twice, and went to the Judiciary Committee.

A resolution, authorizing the Chief Clerk to employ more copying clerks was adopted.

Farish introduced a bill for the survey and sale at public auction, of the salt marsh and tide lands of Mission Bay, San Francisco; and also that this bill be referred to a special committee.

On motion, Middleton's bill was laid on the table till a report upon the matter could be had from the Committee on Commerce, who now have it in hand.

The bill to protect wages of laborers was taken up, amended and placed at the top of the file for to-day.

In a short debate on the bill to substantially reduce taxation in the county of Butte, it was claimed by Democratic members from that county, that Bruce, Treasurer elect, had spent $700 in securing his election, and his salary should not be reduced from $3,000 to $1,200. Bill referred to the Committee on Fees and Salaries.

The bill repealing the fugitive slave act passed without discussion.

An act concerning State officers was taken up and several amendments proposed. The Committee offered one, providing for but two instead of three justices, and two constables in each township in Sacramento county. Adopted. Jones moved an amendment by striking out the office of State Printer. Rejected. Coggins desired but one justice in each township of Sacramento county outside of the city; but withdrew upon reflecting that half the justices elected never qualified. The bill as amended was ordered engrossed. At 12½ o'clock the House adjourned.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—In the House it was ordered that the session to-morrow be devoted to general debate.

Mr. Stevens reported a bill to establish a system of schools for the District of Columbia, which was made the special order for Wednesday.

The House resumed the joint resolution under discussion yesterday, in regard to whisky matters. After debate the resolution passed.

The Secretary of State has reported in response to a resolution of inquiry, that the following States have ratified the proposed amendment to the Constitution designated as article 14th: Connecticut, New Hampshire, Tennessee, New Jersey, Oregon, Vermont, New York, Illinois, West Virginia, Kansas, Nevada, Missouri, Minnesota, Indiana, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Nebraska.

The House proceeded to consider the report of the Election Committee confirming the right of Mr. Trimble, the sitting member from the first district of Kentucky. After three hours' debate the resolution was adopted, and Mr. Trimble sworn in. The House soon after adjourned.

In the Senate Mr. Howard made a special explanation in regard to the premature publication of the report on the Stanton case.

The special order being the bill to prevent further contraction of the currency, it was taken up.

Mr. Edmunds offered an amendment that the act shall not be construed to authorize the increase of the currency beyond the amount now in circulation. After debate it was rejected, and after further debate the Senate went into executive session and soon after adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Mr. Pomeroy presented a petition from Mrs. Fremont, praying the restoration of a certain property franchise now in the possession of the military authorities. Referred.

Senator Sumner introduced a joint resolution reciting that, Whereas the proposed amendment to the Constitution known as Art. XIV has been ratified by twenty-two States, said amendment is valid to all intents and purposes. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Senator Grimes offered a resolution which was adopted, requesting that the Secretary of the Navy have suspended until the further action of Congress, the payment of officers of the Navy on the retired list, or promoted under the act of last March 1st, except such as were entitled, when placed thereon. The Senate went into executive session and then adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Reconstruction Committee have agreed to report a bill on Monday, declaring that in ten of the States lately in rebellion there are no civil State Governments now existing, and that these States shall not be recognized as valid or legal by Executive or Judicial authority. Section 2, requires the General of the army to detail officers of the army not below the rank of Colonel, to command the several military districts and enforce the Reconstruction act. Section 3, authorizes the General of the army to remove any civil officers acting under provisional governments in those States, and prohibits the President to detail or remove the commanders of those districts. Section 4, forbids the President to use the army or navy to maintain said provisional governments or oppose the provisions of any reconstruction act. Section 5, fixes the penalties for interference by any person with intent to prevent by force the execution of any order of the General of the army made in pursuance of this act.

The Senate, in executive session, occupied several hours over the report of the committee on the Stanton case and adjourned without taking a vote.

The House spent the entire day in a general debate on the President's Message.

Miscellaneous.

OSWEGO, Jan. 10—The entire Grant block was burned last night; loss $100,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The President sent to the House to-day, a communication relative to the seizure of a Spanish steamer in the harbor of Port Royal in 1861, by General Sherman, on suspicion of conveying contraband correspondence and afterwards released by order of the Court. The House is asked to make an appropriation to pay damages.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—The Ohio Democratic Convention apparently snubbed Vallandigham, and declined to endorse him for the Senate, and in spite of the desperate efforts of his friends, refused to appoint him delegate at large to the National Convention.

Reverdy Johnson is in the field for re-election to the Senate and has written a letter explaining his position. The legislature appears inclined to select a more extreme man.

HAVANA, Jan. 11.—The British steamer Jason has arrived from Vera Cruz, bringing all the members of the British Legation from Mexico.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—The Convention is hurrying the constitution through and has progressed as far as article 67. It is reported that this activity is caused by letters from prominent politicians in Washington.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 11.—The Constitutional Convention met yesterday, but no business of importance was transacted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—A special says the Indian Peace Commission has suggested the propriety of appointment of a board to visit Arizona and make peace with the Indians there; also to visit Oregon and Idaho.

Official documents show that the amount of freight during the year ending the first of June last transported across the State of Illinois by eight railroads, which amount was carried eastward, was 3,358,000 tons; valued at $235,000,000. That carried westward, was 1,348,000 tons; valued at $411,000,000. The amount is nearly equal to two-thirds of the entire foreign commerce of the country.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The Fenians examined yesterday were taken to Warwick Jail to-night heavily guarded.

BELFAST, Jan. 10.—The clerks in the telegraph office have been arrested on suspicion of belonging to the Fenians.

FLORENCE, Jan. 11.—The budget which is about to be laid before the Italian Parliament asks for the imposition of taxes sufficient to produce one hundred and ninety millions of livres in addition to the present revenue; also for a loan of four hundred millions livres.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The bill for the reorganization of the army is still under consideration by the Corps Legislatif. An article has been adopted to oblige every Frenchman to serve in the National Guard. An amendment was introduced exempting the infirm, but was opposed by Rouher.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—It is reported that in consequence of the recent success of the Chinese rebels the Imperialists are reduced to extremities. The Emperor of China has asked the European powers for assistance to defend his throne.

Latest intelligence from the Abyssinian expedition says the troops are still at Sinope, in good health. The natives are everywhere friendly.

The Fenians arrested at Birmingham will be examined to-day. Extraordinary precautions are taken in apprehension of an attempted rescue. No disturbance has occurred.

PARIS, Jan. 8.—The new Cabinet of Portugal favors the collection of new taxes. It was because these taxes were odious to the people that the old Cabinet resigned.

FLORENCE, Jan. 8.—Menabrea claims that the new Cabinet will be supported by a working majority of thirty, and six members of the House of Deputies.

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—In the Chamber of Deputies a series of resolutions were introduced taking strong grounds in favor of freedom of speech and the inviolability of members of the diet and they were adopted by a majority of thirty.

Bismarck made a speech at a public dinner yesterday, reviewing the present political situation of Europe. He said war with France this year was a phantom. He urged his hearers to dismiss all fears in regard to the matter.

LISBON, Jan. 8.—The regular mail steamer from South America has arrived. Her news makes no mention of the loss of British steamer Saturn with four hundred people. This reported disaster is discredited.

Reports from the allied armies state that extensive preparations were being made to storm the Paraguayan fortifications at Humaita.

DUBLIN, Jan. 8.—Piggott, editor of the Dublin Irishman, has been arrested for publishing seditious articles.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The directors of the Atlantic Telegraph Company have issued a prospectus to raise one million three hundred thousand pounds, to purchase all rights and interests of the Anglo-American Company in the two cables.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—On New Years day the King of Prussia sent to Napoleon a cordial autograph note which was answered in the same conciliatory spirit. Much better feeling has prevailed since the publication of this intelligence. Rentes are higher. The actions recently instituted against the journals of this city for alleged violation of their privileges, have been abandoned.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The authorities are still active in searching out the Fenian leaders. Some important arrests were made lately.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—The Panama steamer Sacramento arrived this morning.

General Gregg, late commander of the district of Arizona, now transferred to the command of the district of Nevada, arrived here by the Orizaba yesterday with his staff and the headquarters of the 1st U S Cavalry, of which he is commander, en route to Fort Churchill, his future headquarters.

Yesterday afternoon as Phillip Pratt was running through Liedesdorff street, he accidentally ran against Thomas H. Lord, who immediately drew a heavy knife and cut Pratt in three places. His wounds are serious.

The Eisner inquest was resumed last evening and again postponed until Monday.

SKATES ARE VERY MUCH IN DEMAND, and from appearances at the "Lake" yesterday there must have been a great many skates sold. While every person is going skating, they should not neglect to take care of their person, which they can easily do by calling at KOHN & FISHEL'S and get a good Overcoat or Beaver Suit, Cloth Gloves, and everything to keep a man or woman comfortable.

NEW TO-DAY.

DR. J. C. YOUNG,

Medical and Surgical

INSTITUTE.

CONSULTATION, IN ALL CASES, FREE.

CURES GUARANTEED, OR NO PAY REQUIRED.

IN ALL CASES WHERE CONFIDENCE IS REQUIRED THE UTMOST SECRESY MAINTAINED.

The above rules, established by Dr. J. C. Young in 1850, and which have done so much to secure the reputation of this Institute, are still adhered to, affording those in need of medical aid, the certainty of cure and the utmost confidence.

There is nothing of so great importance to the sick as to know where to find a physician whose skill and humanity give assurance of proper and delicate treatment. The Doctor would respectfully call the attention of those of both sexes who are suffering or in trouble to the invariable success that has marked the career of the Institute in the seventeen years of its existence.

It is unnecessary in this connection to enumerate all the complaints treated at the Institute, but the Doctor feels it his duty to call especial attention to that terrible scourge,

SEMINAL WEAKNESS,

That is sapping with its insidiousness the very life of its victims; in the treatment and cure of which the Institute has earned so enviable a reputation.

READ! READ!

I am aware that by dwelling upon so uninviting a subject as the decay of manly vigor through the loss of the vital principle of life, the ignorant may asperse my motives; but the desire to point out to those who suffer, languish and decay, the true cause of their affliction, is too great an incentive to be forced into abeyance. How extended the terrible disease of Seminal Weakness is, no one but the practical specialist who devotes his time to its treatment can tell; but its presence can be detected by the most inexperienced by noting the following symptoms; Weakness of the back and limbs; languishing feelings, loss of muscular power; nervousness; irritability; cold feet or hands, accompanied by hot head; symptoms of consumption; short breath; flushings of the face; aversion to society; confusion of the mind; loss of memory; nightly emissions; colorless; slight discharges upon the least excitement; trembling; palpitation of the heart; irregular appetite; variable temper, etc.

YOUNG MAN, if you experience any of the various symptoms enumerated above, pause to consider. The present is the golden moment in which you may secure health and happiness. You may feel strong now, but if you have ever practiced the vice of self-abuse even in the slightest degree, you have the seeds of weakness in your system, and their undermining influence will, sooner or later, dash the fair edifice of your strength to the ground, leaving you a helpless, abject being. It is not a disease that declares itself at once. Therein lies its greatest danger; for while the patient is being treated for some affection of the Heart, Lungs, Brain, or Digestive functions, he sinks into a general debility that soon adds him to the list of the victims of the terrible disorder, Seminal Weakness.

See in the bent form and languishing steps, the poor victim of the fascinating vice! Mark the course of the destructive complaint in the hollow cheek and dull eye!

Drowsiness is one of the premonitory symptoms. At first it is easily shaken off, but it grows eventually into a great disinclination to pursue his regular business. The mind becomes apprehensive, and restless nights succeed days of depression.

It is the nature of the complaint to assume sudden changes that leave the poor victim but little hope of recovery. In a single instant it may wither your fond hopes and blast your honest aspirations.

Marriage is sought by a natural impulse as a hope of relief. This is an error of the first magnitude, for the system, unprepared for the exigencies of the occasion, suddenly fails, and he finds himself in a deplorable condition, from which there is but the slightest hope of recovery. Or if the marriage should result in offspring, they are puny, distorted, decrepid, and degenerate. This is applicable to both sexes, whether married or single, and to all times of life.

Do not delay if you feel any of the symptoms of the terrible complaint, or if your acts have been such as to lead to them, but by instant application secure to yourself the only hope of health and happiness. The Doctor uses no mercury or other deleterious drugs—cures, when taken in time, always guaranteed, and full and proper vigor restored.

The afflicted are assured of every confidence.

PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH VENEREAL.

During the seventeen years since the establishment of the Institute, the number of cases of Venereal that have been treated, show a record unsurpassed by any hospital in the world, and the success that has invariably marked the course of treatment,

Without Mercury or other Deleterious Drugs,

Shows conclusively the use of them to be not only uncalled for, but actually dangerous, for it is a thoroughly established medical principle that these poisonous drugs, by entering the blood, ruin the constitution and destroy life.

The Doctor effects a cure in recent cases, in a few days, and finds no difficulty in curing those of long duration, without submitting the patient to such treatment as will draw upon him the slightest suspicion, or oblige him to neglect his business, whether in-doors or without. The diet need not be changed. Cures always guaranteed, or no pay required.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with disease, and requires medical or surgical assistance, the inquiry should be, "Where is there a physician competent to administer relief, and whose respectable standing in society will recommend him to the confidence of the community?" The Doctor, understanding how imperatively necessary these requirements are, feels called upon to interpose, and by calling the attention of the afflicted to the fact that he has been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female Diseases for twenty years, and is fully qualified to administer in all cases, both medically and surgically, not in a superficial manner, but in as thorough a manner as years of study and practice—both in hospitals and private families—can make, to save them from the hands of the unqualified, unscrupulous or designing. Therefore, families can rely upon him as upon a father. All in affliction can find in him one who can feel and sympathize with and befriend them in trouble—one in whose secrecy the utmost confidence can be placed—consultation by letter or otherwise, free. Cures guaranteed in all weakness and trouble incidental to the sex. Private apartments are provided, when desired, where can be had all the advantages of unremitted attention of the Doctor, and the most skillful and and faithful nurses.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Persons, either male or female, residing in the interior, are often deterred from consulting the Doctor because they cannot spare the time, nor incur the expense of a visit to the city. To such he would say that a plain statement of the symptoms and information bearing upon the complaint, will enable him to prescribe for them so that they can be cured at home. None need have any false delicacy about writing, no matter what the nature of their complaint, as the communication will be seen by no one except the Doctor, and will be treated with the utmost confidence, and either be returned or destroyed.

Consultation Free.

[illegible] ORDINANCES.—At the last session of the Common Council [illegible] important ordinances were passed and on Friday approved by the Mayor, of which the following is a [illegible] of material provisions: Ordinance No. 460—provides for the sale, by the committee on Fire and Water, of the hand engines of No. 2 and No. 4 Engine Companies, the proceeds to be added to the Fire Department Fund. Ordinance No. 461 provides for the purchase by [illegible] city of the steam fire engine now in use by Multnomah Engine Co. No. 2, at an expense not to exceed $4,-[illegible]. Ordinance No. 462—appropriates out of the General [illegible] for [illegible] for 1867 as follows: The sum of forty-five 70-100 dollars to pay expenses of litigation; the sum of ten 84-100 dollars to make up a deficiency in the appropriation for lamp-posts; the sum of two hundred [illegible] to make up deficiency in payment of City Assessor; the sum of one hundred and eighty-seven 71-100 dollars to make up deficiency in the appropriation for the payment of the City Surveyor and assistants; The sum of [illegible] three dollars to make up the deficiency in the appropriation for board of prisoners. Ordinance No. 463—[illegible] the following general appropriations for the expenses of the city government for the year 1868: For the salary of Auditor and Clerk, fifteen hundred dollars; for salary of City Treasurer, one thousand dollars; for salary of City Attorney, one thousand dollars; for salary of the [illegible] Commissioner, nine hundred dollars; for the pay of [illegible] surveying, making [illegible] and specifications for street improvements [illegible] may [illegible], and the incidental expenses connected therewith, twenty-two [illegible] for the pay of As[illegible] in listing property and making Assessment Roll, five hundred and fifty dollars; for fees of Marshal for services under city ordinances not otherwise provided for herein, two hundred and fifty dollars; for salary of City Marshal, fifteen hundred [illegible]; for pay of Deputy Marshals, twenty-four hundred dollars; for board of prisoners in City Jail, and expenses connected with the same, five hundred dollars; for furnishing the street lamps with gas or other illuminating [illegible] cleaning the [illegible] for supply of water to cisterns, [illegible] hundred dollars; for expense of Council Room, including rent, fuel, lights, repairs and incidental expenses, fourteen [illegible] dollars; [illegible] hundred [illegible] for payment of [illegible] to the several Fire Comp[illegible], two thousand one hundred dollars; for rent of houses for Engine Company No. 4, three hundred and sixty dollars; for repairs to Engine Houses, apparatus and necessary supplies to the several companies, two thousand five hundred dollars; for the construction of fire cisterns and connecting cisterns with water mains, one thousand dollars; for repairs to cisterns and cistern tops, four hundred dollars; for the erection of fire hydrants, [illegible] for repairs to streets in [illegible] public [illegible] six hundred dollars; for improvement [illegible] in front of public property, one [illegible] dollars; for the erection of iron lamp posts and [illegible] to lamp posts and lamps, four [illegible] hundred [illegible] for [illegible] sixty-five dollars [illegible] sealing the [illegible] fifty dollars; for necessary expenses of putting [illegible] the public square in order, three hundred [illegible]; for the purchase of the Steam Fire Engine [illegible] by Multnomah Engine Co. No. 2, forty six hundred dollars; for repairs to sewers, and removal of nuisances in front of public property, one hundred dollars; for salary of Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, five [illegible] dollars. All balances of appropriations unexpended [illegible] Nos. 455, 456 and [illegible] are to be returned to the [illegible] fund.

[illegible] CITY ITEMS.—We clip the subjoined items from [illegible] of Saturday, the 11th: The departure of [illegible] on the [illegible] certain that he will not be able to deliver the lecture in The Odd Fellows' [illegible], at this city on the 28th, and Ex-Gov. [illegible] will take the place [illegible] by Gov. Woods. His lecture will be upon "Railroads." On Tu[illegible] evening next Rev. Dr. Wythe, of [illegible], will lecture on the [illegible] of Labor." [illegible] On Th[illegible] last two mechanics of [illegible] city, Mr. A. P. DeLin, and Mr. Geo. Mayer, sawed [illegible] with bow saws, which caused some remark. [illegible] was to saw a three foot line, of big oak stuff. Both started at the word, and worked hard for the champ[illegible]. Mr. DeLin came out in two minutes and [illegible] three inches and three [illegible] to add that Mr. Mayer [illegible] while it has been a long time since Mr. DeLin worked in that class of timber. Mr. Mayer is a wagon maker by trade, Mr. DeLin a cabi[illegible] [illegible] for several days, [illegible] the usual amount of business. In [illegible] to a numerously signed petition, the P. T. Co. [illegible] proceedings would be instituted [illegible] certain [illegible] to compel the [illegible] improvements. An old [illegible] account, no doubt a just one, but one which [illegible] have been paid years ago, to the Sisters of Charity [illegible] for [illegible] keeping of an insane person named Fred. Curley, was allowed. [illegible] a favorable [illegible] on Monday last.... It has been said that certain [illegible] of the P. T. Company had an interest in the [illegible]. We do not know that this report [illegible], but it has been stated to us as a fact. Whether [illegible] the [illegible] having traversed all the dangers of the Snake, Columbia, and Willamette rivers, from Lewiston, [illegible] making the most remarkable steamboat trip perhaps on record [illegible].

[illegible].—At the request of Mr. Thomas Fra[illegible], [illegible] of Internal Revenue for the District of Oregon, we publish the following notice [illegible] the time for making up annual returns:

"Returns of [illegible] under the [illegible] law of March 2d, 1867, [illegible] to the [illegible] on or before the 1st day of March, instead as heretofore, 1st [illegible] May; such year; they are also payable to the Collector on or before the 30th day of April instead as heretofore [illegible] the 30th of June." Now is the time for all to make up their incomes ready for the Assistant Assessor, [illegible] The [illegible] the close of the year one makes up his income [illegible] The income of any year includes the entire year from January 1st to [illegible] 31st, both days included."

[illegible] ON THE ICE.—On [illegible] day, two or three [illegible] occurred to skaters. In the morning Mr. [illegible], while skating on the pond above the city, fell and [illegible] severely, but not so seriously as to prevent him from continuing his "sport." In the afternoon [illegible] whose name we did not learn, fell very heavily on the ice north of the city, and received a very [illegible] in the front part of his head from which the blood flowed profusely. In another part of the field we [illegible] a pool of blood which [illegible] that some votary had skated, fallen and bled in the cause, but as no corpse [illegible] to his sacrifices the virtue of dying. It is related that on Friday evening, [illegible] fell and broke his nose and that Mr. Flynn fell and bruised and cut his face severely.

SPECULATION IN SKATES.—We hear a story of a speculating gentleman [illegible] pairs of skates and taking them to the upper lake, yesterday, leased them out to parties, stipulating for twenty-five cents an hour per pair. The speculation worked admirably so far as leasing out the skates was concerned; but things took an unfavorable turn toward evening, when the proprietor [illegible] property had gone to supper—the lessees couldn't be found, the skates couldn't be found, nothing [illegible] only that the speculating individual was loser by several pairs of skates, whereat, dumfounded, he went home to reflect upon the spiteful fate which [illegible] his first speculative venture.

BASE BALL ON THE ICE.—The members of the Pioneer and [illegible] Saturday afternoon with ball and bats, and indulged in a regular game of base ball, the players running on skates. As might [illegible], [illegible] there were numerous catches, flies, [illegible], strikes, and other technical elements not described in the standard works on the game. But considering the [illegible] of many of the players, in the management of skates, the game was quite a creditable one. It is the [illegible], if players enough can be mustered this afternoon, to play a match game, the sides being [illegible] on the [illegible]. If so, rare sport may be expected.

THE COLUMBIA RIVER FROZEN OVER.—A dispatch from Martin's Bluff, about 7 o'clock last evening, announced that the Columbia closed over a half a mile below that point, at [illegible], in consequence of a gorge of floating ice. The steamer Ranger, with a vessel in tow, supposed to be the brig Brewster, from St. Helens, ran, [illegible] to force [illegible] this only succeeded, however, in [illegible] fast in the ice, where she remained at dark. When the telegram was sent it was too dark to see whether the vessels had got loose, but it was supposed they had not.

ICE BLOCKADE. Since Saturday morning communication between this city and East Portland has been practically cut off by the running ice. The ferry boat having hauled off, several attempts were made to run the blockade in skiffs, but in general, they were not successes. Mr. Stevens and Mr. Brown, of the Herald, in attempting to [illegible] from the other side got fast in the ice, were carried down toward the bone-yard, and were finally extricated only by assistance from this shore. We heard of another [illegible] who was carried further down. No attempt to [illegible] yesterday, that we heard of.

TRANSPORTATION OF MAILS.—Under the vigorous management of Mr. Whitehouse, we have not yet suffered any [illegible] to send the mails south. On Saturday when the [illegible] found it impossible to make the trip to Oregon City [illegible] mails were at once despatched by land to Oregon City via Oswego. All mails go that way now, crossing the river just below the falls. The mails from the South did not arrive last evening, but it is supposed they came down on the other side to East Portland; if so, they will be got over to-day.

SHOULDER BROKEN.—We are informed that on Friday evening Mr. Henry Green, while descending the steps of [illegible] slipped and fell to the ground, receiving some [illegible] injuries. In the course of a few hours, feeling [illegible] pain in his shoulder, he sent for a physician, who upon examination found the shoulder blade was [illegible]. The shattered bones were put into place [illegible] morning, but the nature of the fracture is [illegible] recovery must necessarily be very slow.

[illegible] COURT—DEADY, JUDGE.—Proceedings of the U. S. Circuit Court, on Saturday, January 11th:

[illegible] Dick vs. O. E. Hamilton et al.; in equity; bill [illegible] plaint dismissed.

James Fields vs. Ida Squires; in equity; argument on [illegible] answer to amended bill opened. W. W. Chapman for complainant, Page and Hill for defendant.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, JUSTICE.—Proceedings of Saturday, Jan. 11th:

In re Farrall, in bankruptcy; in this case the question of bankruptcy was submitted to the court, and a judgment given that Farrall was a bankrupt. Dolph for the petitioner and Reed for the debtors.

LECTURES ON MEDICAL JURISPRUDENCE.—Hon. J. H. Mitchell will start to-day for Salem where he goes to deliver his regular term course of lectures on medical jurisprudence, before the medical department of the Willamette University. The course will occupy his time for about two weeks.

PROCEEDS OF THE CONCERT.—The Proceeds of the Philharmonic Concert of Friday evening have been overstated. The President of the Library Association, informs us that the net proceeds will be not far from $300. The expenses amounted to near $100.

LECTURE.—The first of a course of Lectures on Commercial Law was delivered at the Portland Commercial College by C. W. Parrish, Esq., of the law firm of Gibbs & Parrish, on last Friday afternoon. Mr. Landon informs us that a regular course of Lectures on Commercial Law will be delivered before the College by Ex-Gov. Gibbs, Mr. Parrish and other legal gentlemen. This shows that the managers of the National College are alive to the wants of our young and middle-aged men, and we would call the special attention of country merchants, farmers and others to the advantages to be derived from a course of instruction at this school. See the advertisement in another column.

CAPITOL, OLYMPIA, Dec. 13th, 1867.

DR. GROSS, Portland—Sir: I have been in the habit of using the "HENLEY ROYAL BALSAM" in my family, who reside at Wallula, Walla Walla county, W. T. I am now at Olympia, attending the present session of the Legislature, and the climate is so different from that of Walla Walla county that I have taken cold, and I have endeavored to purchase some of the medicine here but was unable to do so. Please send a bottle up immediately by mail. I have used nothing else in my family and cannot get along without it. Yours truly,
J. M. VANSYCKLE.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

Is a certain cure for diseases of the
BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, DROPSY, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, GENERAL DEBILITY, and all diseases of the
URINARY ORGANS,
whether existing in
MALE OR FEMALE,
from whatever cause originating and no matter of
HOW LONG STANDING.

Di[illegible] of these organs require the use of a diuretic. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the HEALTH AND HAPPINESS,
and that of Posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

ENFEEBLED AND DELICATE CONSTITUTIONS, of both sexes, use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU. It will give brisk and energetic feelings, and enable you to sleep well.

DR. C. W. COOL,

DENTIST.

THOSE WHO DESIRE FIRST-CLASS DENTAL SERVICES might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE. The nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold; it makes the plate twice as strong and one-third times thinner than the common vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. His new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the concave or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has received, December 3d, 1867, a patent from the United States Patent Office. He has been making this style of work for the last two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his office. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

At this period there are but few of the h[illegible] race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its [illegible] in [illegible] pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great suc[illegible], but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We [illegible] wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands [illegible], unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in these far off places by its merits.

TAKE NO MORE UNPLEASANT AND UNSAFE REMEDIES for unpleasant and dangerous diseases. Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH.

The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of its con[illegible]mers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. ## Who'll Love Me when my Hair is Gray?

BY MARY CLEMMER AMES

Oh let me smooth this silken thread,
And listen what my heart must say,
'Tis only one, this silvery thread,
Of its own curls hurrying to grow gray;
Alas, with eyes of wistful truth,
I must recall some coming day,
The grace and glory of my youth,
Who'll love me when my hair is gray?

Who'll love me when my hair is gray?
Who'll call me "Sweet" when I am old?
Will sunny children round me play,
With cherub cheek and curls of gold?
Oh, may I then renew my spring,
In maiden grace, in manly form,
While to my cold lips come and cling
Sweet childish kisses, wild and warm?
May know the while my pulse grows less,
In bounteous life 'tis bounding on
In younger veins, to love and bless,
And make life fair when I am gone!

Or left the remnant of my race,
Shall I behold my sinking sun,
And gazing toward the unknown lands,
'Thank God my day is almost done?'
The while I pray with lifted hands,
And count between my failing breath
The friends that I have lost in life,
The friends that I have lost in death.
And counting, sigh in soul to sail
Afar, to seek the sunny coast,
Where I may find the love I've missed,
The joy I would have treasured most.

Who'll love me when my hair is gray?
Ah, well I know that there is one,
Whose eyes will see me fair and gray
When faint and slow my life sands run,
He'll see around my faded brows,
From whence the flowers are flung,
The shadow of eternal youth,
And love as if I still were young.

Trichina in St. Louis—Interesting Scientific Investigation.

[From the Missouri Republican, Nov. 17.]

On Saturday evening a meeting of the Medical Society was held in an apartment of the Mercantile Library building. After some routine business had been transacted, a very interesting and somewhat startling subject was introduced. It appears that during the past week two deaths occurred at the City Hospital, which have now been discovered to have resulted from the horrible disease produced by the trichina spiralis, which created so much excitement in Germany some time ago, and subsequently in Iowa and other sections of this country. The trichina, as is well known, are taken into the system by eating raw or half cooked pork. The following is the substance of the statement made by Dr. Dean, a member of the Medical Society:—While present a few minutes before the close of a post mortem examination and demonstration made by Dr. [illegible] on a subject of the City Hospital, though not for the purpose of discovering the cause of death, Dr. [illegible] remarked that the muscles were [illegible]. This drew Dr. Dean's attention to the subject, when he saw them to be completely studded with trichina spiralis. He at once endeavored to get a history of the case, and found that the patient was one of two friends who had [illegible] to the hospital together, both suffering from [illegible] debility, and who were so registered. The one whose body he saw had suffered from [illegible] pain, [illegible] &c., [illegible] at last, for typhoid fever, which [illegible] have and from which he was supposed to have died. So near are some of the symptoms of trichiniasis to those of this disease, [illegible] and the [illegible] are well known he would have said nothing of this case, except [illegible] give its bearing, namely, that the [illegible] (trichiniasis) is probably much more common than is generally supposed. If, on examining the other body, it should be shown that his [illegible] was also inhabited by trichina it would, [illegible] that two cases [illegible] have died of typhoid (in the [illegible] subject there were long complications) [illegible] had died of this disease. Dr. D. [illegible] the [illegible] of the muscles, and had, [illegible] out under the [illegible] of the trichina — [illegible] in the history of the [illegible], but who thought [illegible] of the [illegible] were not, and partly because of the slight [illegible] to the subject by some [illegible] give a brief [illegible] of the [illegible]. The larval trichina, [illegible] were free, [illegible] by [illegible] matter, or by [illegible] matter, which later forms the spindle or shuttle-shaped cyst. This [illegible] the fibres of [illegible]. It is found in the same [illegible] of the swine. [illegible] the calcareous cysts are dissolved by the stomach juices and the [illegible] fully developed, and produce young; one [illegible] or more, half a pound [illegible] contain [illegible] 10,000,000. These commence emigrating to the voluntary [illegible] (so called) over the body. As [illegible] the intestines [illegible] of them in the [illegible] emigrate into the muscles, pain in, and [illegible] the [illegible] typhoid [illegible] of the system, hiccough, if the [illegible] of voice, if the [illegible] be affected. This statement [illegible] took place while many of the [illegible] examined the specimen [illegible] produced by Dr. Dean through glasses. By holding up a [illegible] the light the [illegible] of the [illegible] practitioners present, who had [illegible] pork [illegible] and ham for supper, grew [illegible] toward disturbance. The [illegible] is really one of importance, and we have no doubt will excite general attention. [illegible] nothing [illegible] known [illegible] of the case mentioned, but we [illegible] will be made [illegible] which will probably result in [illegible] information.

[illegible]—A respectable (?) well [illegible] a [illegible] member of the church [illegible] to the great mortification of his friends, been [illegible] guilty of sheep stealing. The discovery of the crime had been made on Saturday; a knowledge of the fact had not on the following Sabbath reached the ear of either of the pastors of two village churches. [illegible] With [illegible] the good lover of mutton, [illegible], by the way, was Adam [illegible] to church. Imagine the [illegible], not only on the guilty Adam, but on [illegible] of the audience, who had heard of the affair, when the minister announced as his text, "Thou shalt not steal," and proceeded to discuss the subject in the most practical manner, denouncing [illegible] forms of the sin in question, that of [illegible] as the meanest of all! This was the last straw that broke the camel's back," and the abashed Adam sneaked out of the church at the close of the sermon in no very enviable state of mind.

In the afternoon our hero sought consolation for his wounded spirit by attending the neighboring church of a different denomination, a large [illegible] of whose members consisted of intimate friends and relatives. The latter, of course, were [illegible] of the crime laid to the charge of their kinsman.

[illegible] Adam obtained, however, by his "change of base," was a remarkably pointed and personal discourse from the words, "And the Lord God called unto Adam (and said), Where art thou?"

As a matter of course, some time afterwards [illegible] found themselves "in hot water," and it was a difficult matter to convince their parishioners that they had been innocent of any design in the selection of their texts.—Boston Transcript.

RARE COINS FOUND.—In making some alterations in the grounds of the Lycee Napoleon, Paris, [illegible] came upon a pile of gold coins of the [illegible] Empire, which turn out to be of great value. There were 333 coins in all, one of which, a Trojan coin, containing a portrait of Augustus in the corner, is valued at 10,000 francs. In age they range from Nero to Severus, and it is believed that they were [illegible] during the reign of the latter, [illegible] by some one implicated in the insurrectionary attempt at Albinus, or by a [illegible], who, as the custom was, appropriated all the heavier coin to his own use. The coins [illegible] placed in the Paris Museum of Antiquities.

[illegible] I warned you particularly, [illegible] boiling my eggs hard. Now, how [illegible] they are boiled fit for salad, in [illegible] direction. What did I tell you?" "Oh, sir, I remember exactly what you told me, and acted accordingly. The eggs were in the water to a moment, precisely nine minutes." Jones: "Nine! I told you three." Cook: "Yes, sir; but there are three eggs. Of course, if one takes three minutes, boiling, three must take nine. I may be a fool, sir, but I happen to know what three times three makes, for all that."

Charles G. Leland is the man who said that "a New Englander's idea of hell was a place where everybody had to mind his own business"; which is as crisp as Macaulay's saying that the Puritans hated bear-baiting; not because it gave pain to the bear, but because it gave pleasure to the spectators.

HIRAM SMITH'S
Ophthalmic Panacea!

IN BRINGING THE ABOVE-NAMED NEW REMEDY to the notice of the Public, the Proprietor begs to state a few facts in relation to it, as follows

It originated in Prussia, where the science of Medicine is so thoroughly taught and practised, but owing to the poverty of its discoverer its wonderful properties were not known beyond the limited circle of his acquaintance, in which, however, it proved itself absolutely infallible in eradicating disease from the eyes.

He immigrated to this country, bringing his discovery with him, but seems to have been indifferent to the propriety of giving it general and wide-spread circulation, and, as previously in his native country, seemed only desirous of using it among his friends and neighbors

The present proprietor was one of those neighbors, and for many years was a witness to its wonderful efficacy, and, after ineffectual efforts to persuade the inventor to more widely diffuse the knowledge of its virtues, finally became himself the possessor of the secret of its preparation.

And now, while he does not deny that he hopes and expects to make money by its sale, he must yet lay claim to a desire to benefit his fellows by presenting to them a remedy which does and will cure where medical science and all experience have failed.

He wishes it to be understood that it will cure all diseases of the eye, whether of recent or long standing; but its greatest power is exhibited when it is applied to old Chronic Cases of long standing, which have resisted every other attempt to cure them, and which have been given up as hopeless and past being cured or relieved.

He asks those afflicted in this way to give it a trial, and so confident is he of its success that he instructs all his agents TO REFUND THE MONEY IF IT FAILS TO CURE.

It has, within the past year, cured cases of GRANULATED LIDS, INFLAMMATION, &c., of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and SEVENTEEN YEARS STANDING, evidence of which fact is furnished in the testimony of the following persons living at and in the neighborhood of Harrisburg, Linn county:

ALEXANDER L. WALKER was cured of inflamed eyes, of nine years standing. Had been treated by eminent physicians during all that time without effect.

Mrs. MONTGOMERY, of Harrisburg, had inflamed eyes for over two years. For one year they were so bad that she could not work. Was finally completely cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

E. B MOORE, of the firm of Moore, Garst & Beber, of Harrisburg, had granulated lids for six years

NATHANIEL BELL, of Clackamas county, had inflamed eyes—a bad case—for over fifteen years.

ROBERT RAMPEY and W. D. PORTER, of Harrisburg; JOHN M. HOLLOWAY, of Linn County; G. E. WARD, of Lane County, were all afflicted, more or less severely, with diseased eyes, and were cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

All the above named persons have given lengthy testimonials to the facts as above stated, which may be seen at the proprietor's office in Harrisburg

CARD.

DR. BARLOW J. SMITH'S WATER CURE AND Phrenological Institute, 627 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. This is the only Regular Water Cure in Francisco, where all curable diseases are treated without drugs. Dr. Smith was the first to establish a water cure on this coast, based upon the theory and practice of the New York Hydropathic College

We have a truly healthful boarding place for men, women and children, and our prices are moderate.

The Phrenological organs plainly indicate the diseases to which any person, male or female, is predisposed.

Put this card in your hat, and when you come to San Francisco, call on Dr. Smith. He will give you consultation and a phrenological examination in regard to health. It will cost you nothing and may save you months and years of ill health and "bad luck."

Dr. Smith gives free lectures to gentlemen every Friday evening, on subjects pertaining to health, at his Phrenological Hall, 627 Sacramento Street.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, [illegible] absorbed into the system! Look at their [illegible] and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying [illegible] and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private [illegible] his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are intending [illegible] the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, [illegible] upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and [illegible] strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, [illegible] in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new [illegible], a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, [illegible] flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fœtid breath, [illegible] night sweats, monomania and frequently [illegible] not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible] to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are [illegible] under any of these [illegible] maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

TO THE LADIES.

The various complicated and distressing diseases incident to females, treated with eminent success. Such as Suppressions, Irregularities, Whites, Falling of the Womb, Tumors, all Urinary Diseases, Nervous Debility, Painful or Difficult Menstruation, Barrenness, etc., will be speedily cured, without poisonous drugs, injuries or unpalatable medicines of any kind. Have no delicacy in calling, no difference what your troubles may be. The afflicted are cordially invited to call and satisfy themselves.

Persons calling at Dr. Gibbon's office or sending for packages of medicines, may rely upon his assurances of confidential secrecy with implicit faith, and expect no more than to be charged with a fair, and mutually satisfactory remuneration for services rendered, considering the circumstances and difficulties of cases, rather than a too prevalent and selfish practice of extortion among quacks and pretenders.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in a registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney Street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 253

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 253 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian
